

Turning Point

Think back to two different times you received feedback, one that left you feeling negative and one that left you feeling positive. This will not be shared, unless you choose to.

What was the negative experience?

What was the positive experience?

How did the experiences affect your behavior and attitude, respectively?
